INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON LONGEVITY
Sydney Convention & Exhibition Centre | March 5th 6th 7th
Australia 2004

IN THE YEAR 2000 THERE WERE 600 MILLION PEOPLE ON THE PLANET AGED 60 AND OVER. THIS FIGURE WILL RISE TO 1.2 BILLION BY 2025 AND 2 BILLION BY 2050 [WORLD HEALTH ORGANISATION]. THE PREVENTION, EARLY DETECTION, AND TREATMENT OF AGEING-RELATED DISEASES IS NEEDED TO ALLEVIATE THE LOAD OF OUR RAPIDLY INCREASING AGEING POPULATION. IT IS ESSENTIAL THIS PHENOMENON IS ADDRESSED NOW.

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

As we stand in the early years of a new millennium, enormous changes in the practice of medicine and health care are occurring, particularly in the global direction of health management for the ageing.

Therefore, international conferences such as the Inaugural International Conference on Longevity, Sydney, Australia 2004 assume great importance in their ability to promote interdisciplinary collaboration and exchange of knowledge between clinicians and scientists from all parts of the world.

This Conference will present comprehensive and current information on a wide range of topics, which will update the knowledge base and expertise of researchers and clinicians regarding current approaches to promoting longevity and healthy ageing for the human race.

The afternoon sessions will be dedicated to the themes of the conference and consist of workshops, symposia, oral communications and poster presentations.

THE CONFERENCE EXAMINES ISSUES CONFRONTING HEALTH AND LONGEVITY

Increasing Quality and Length of Life

Integrating Healthy Ageing Strategies into Clinical Practice

Theories of Ageing and Recent Developments in Life-Span Research

Prevention, Early Detection, and Treatment of Age-Related Diseases and Dysfunctions

EDUCATION RECOGNITION

CPD : CPE : CME Points available.

See our conference website for details.

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

Participants wishing to present are required to submit an abstract on-line

no later than 3.12.2003 www.longevity-international.com

“Dear Colleagues

Welcome to the First International Conference on Longevity. As President of the Federal AMA I was pleased to be asked to participate in what I believe will become an essential event for all those interested in how to age with grace and those having to foot the bill for the ever growing aged population.

Unfortunately this event coincides with our Board meeting, something I am unable to miss, however I would like to take this opportunity to express the AMA's support for all work that will improve the quality of care the medical and allied professions can provide to their older patients. We need to embrace and work with a wide range of evidence based methodologies, only together can we successfully meet this challenge.

Have a great conference.

I look forward to receiving feedback from AMA members to feed issues and priorities identified by the conference into our work programme.

Yours sincerely

Bill Glasson
